

SCHOOLS NORTHEAST SCHOOL BUSINESS MANAGEMENT CONFERENCE 2018

SESSION OUTLINE

THE FUTURE OF SCHOOL BUSINESS LEADERSHIP – WHAT WILL THIS LOOK LIKE?

As the sector experiences ongoing fragmentation and consolidation, more schools are collaborating either via multi academy trusts or other kinds of federation arrangement.

This has led to widespread apprehension within the School Business Leadership profession – practitioners are concerned and eager to understand the wider implications for their roles in this “brave new world”.

This session will examine the implications for the profession, review some examples of staffing structures that are emerging, consider where opportunities are presented for career development/progression, and generally reflect on the ways practitioners can build both personal and professional resilience to ensure they have the necessary skills and competencies to remain “fit for purpose”.

Speaker: Val Andrew, Business Leadership Specialist, ASCL
